Rooms

Rooms is a Tbilisi-based design studio founded by Nata Janberidze and Keti Toloraia in 2007. The duo creates furniture, lighting, and interiors that reflect Georgia's cultural heritage, blending folk motifs and artisanal techniques with contemporary forms. Their pieces often explore symbolic language and storytelling, offering designs that are as much about identity as they are about utility.

Internationally sought-after, Rooms has exhibited in significant global design venues, gaining praise for its poetic minimalism and narrative depth. Working with local craftspeople, the studio helps revive traditional Georgian craft in a global design context, ensuring that their creations have both cultural substance and modern appeal.
