NEO/CRAFT is a Berlin-based furniture label founded in 2015 by designer Sebastian Scherer, exploring the dialogue between traditional craftsmanship and contemporary production. The studio approaches design as an evolving process, questioning established ideas of material, form, and function to uncover unexpected possibilities. Each project emerges through experimentation, where familiar techniques are reinterpreted with a distinctly contemporary perspective. Material exploration lies at the heart of the practice. Working primarily with metal, glass, and wood, NEO/CRAFT allows the inherent qualities of each material to guide the design process, treating them as dynamic rather than fixed. Innovation is pursued not simply for novelty, but to expand the expressive and functional potential of objects. Through a balance of precision, craftsmanship, and conceptual clarity, the label develops a distinctive design language—grounded in the integrity of making while remaining open to new possibilities. NEO/CRAFT ultimately bridges tradition and innovation, creating furniture that is both refined and forward-looking.
