Bert Frank

Bert Frank is a British design studio founded in 2013 by designer Robbie Llewellyn and metalwork specialist Adam Yeats. Based in the UK, the studio is renowned for its lighting and furniture collections, which combine timeless design with exceptional craftsmanship and manufacturing expertise. Drawing inspiration from mid-century modern design, Bert Frank creates pieces distinguished by refined materials, including brass, wood, and glass, alongside meticulous attention to detail. Designed and made in the UK, the studio's work balances elegance, functionality, and durability, resulting in contemporary objects that celebrate the enduring relationship between design, engineering, and craft.
