DESIGNER

Gisela Simas

Gisela Simas is a Brazilian designer whose work explores the relationship between materiality, form, and emotional connection. Working across furniture, lighting, and collectible objects, she develops pieces defined by refined simplicity, tactile richness, and a contemporary sensibility rooted in Brazilian modernism. After studying interior design in Rio de Janeiro and later furniture and product design at Central Saint Martins in London, Simas established her studio in Brazil, where she continues to create works that balance craftsmanship, elegance, and functionality. Guided by a deep sensitivity toward natural materials and everyday rituals, her practice reflects a timeless and quietly expressive design language.
