Paul Matter

Paul Matter is a contemporary lighting design studio founded by Nikhil Paul in New Delhi, India. Renowned for its sculptural lighting and collectible objects, the studio explores the enduring relationship between design, materiality, and cultural heritage. Rooted in a deep appreciation for craftsmanship, each piece is conceived through a thoughtful design process and meticulously handcrafted by skilled artisans using materials such as brass, copper, wood, stone, and clay. Balancing sculptural expression with functional clarity, Paul Matter's work is distinguished by refined geometries, tactile finishes, and a timeless aesthetic that celebrates the natural ageing of materials. Drawing inspiration from architecture, traditional craft, and contemporary culture, the studio creates lighting that transcends utility to become objects of atmosphere and permanence. Presented at international design fairs including Salone del Mobile, Tokyo Design Week, Masterpiece London, and NOMAD Monaco, Paul Matter has gained international recognition for its distinctive approach to collectible lighting and contemporary design.
