Imperfettolab

Imperfettolab is an Italian design studio creating collectible furniture, lighting, and sculptural objects that blur the boundaries between art and design. Founded as a family-led creative laboratory, the studio has developed a distinctive visual language rooted in material experimentation, handcrafted production, and the beauty of imperfection. Working primarily with fiberglass, each piece is individually sanded, painted, and finished by hand, resulting in unique works distinguished by tactile surfaces and expressive forms. Guided by the dialogue between nature and artifice, Imperfettolab transforms organic inspirations into sculptural, functional objects that balance monumentality with lightness. Through bold silhouettes, unexpected textures, and meticulous craftsmanship, the studio creates collectible pieces that celebrate imagination, materiality, and the enduring relationship between contemporary design and artisanal making.
