Studio Ceravolo is a multidisciplinary design practice working across architecture, interiors, and product design, founded and led by architect Rosanna Ceravolo. Grounded in observation, dialogue, and restraint, the studio creates thoughtful environments and objects that elevate everyday experience. Its work is defined by a refined sensitivity to context, materiality, texture, light, and proportion, with every detail considered in relation to how a space is lived and experienced. Moving fluidly between architecture, interiors, and furniture, Studio Ceravolo treats each element as part of a larger spatial narrative. Furniture and objects emerge as natural extensions of the studio's architectural language, translating ideas of space and atmosphere into tactile forms. Handmade to order by trusted local fabricators, each piece reflects a commitment to craftsmanship and collaboration. Across every scale, the studio balances precision with warmth, creating enduring environments and objects that feel considered, connected, and quietly expressive.
