Goons

Goons is a Paris-based design studio founded by architect Paul Trussler and designer-editor Mia Kim, whose practice explores the intersection of architecture, craftsmanship, and contemporary furniture. Established in 2019, the studio creates collectible furniture and objects distinguished by sculptural forms, refined simplicity, and a playful yet restrained design language. Drawing on backgrounds in architecture, fashion, and creative direction, Goons develops works that balance functional clarity with expressive materiality. Guided by a commitment to thoughtful making and material experimentation, the studio often works with humble and reclaimed materials, transforming them into timeless pieces through meticulous craftsmanship and precise construction. Through bold geometries, understated elegance, and an architectural approach to form, Goons creates enduring works that celebrate material honesty, sustainability, and the dialogue between contemporary design and everyday living.
