AOAO

Studio AOAO is an Amsterdam-based interdisciplinary practice founded in 2020 by designers Alicja Strzyżyńska and Onur Iseri. Working at the intersection of art and design, the studio creates sculptural furniture and objects that explore the boundaries between function and sculpture. Their work is guided by an interest in intimacy, emotional resonance, and the subtle relationships that develop between people and the objects they live with. Through a thoughtful and experimental approach, Studio AOAO develops pieces distinguished by their expressive forms, tactile qualities, and enduring presence. Influenced in part by lived neurodivergent experience, their practice prioritizes sensory clarity, emotional connection, and environmental responsibility. Represented by galleries internationally, AOAO has established a distinctive voice within contemporary collectible design, creating works that invite reflection, interaction, and a deeper awareness of everyday experience.
