Zemna

ZEMNA is a Ukrainian studio of functional art founded in 2021 by Tetiana Krasutska and Andrii Dobryanskyi. Working across sculptural furniture, lighting, and decorative objects, the studio merges raw emotion with refined craftsmanship. Its practice explores inner truth—the journey toward self-discovery, acceptance, and strength. Krasutska works through a sensual, organic language, translating childhood memories and inner experiences into tactile forms, while Dobryanskyi brings silence, precision, and restraint. Together, they create a dialogue between instinct and intention, wildness and clarity. ZEMNA describes its aesthetic as Archaic Biomorphism, using untamed forms as metaphors for protecting the human core. Each piece invites touch and contemplation, reconnecting the viewer with a sense of primal strength and freedom. Handcrafted with skilled artisans, ZEMNA's works employ materials chosen to age gracefully and endure across generations. More than functional objects, they are conceived as enduring companions—quiet, tactile presences within the rituals of everyday life.
