Aver

Aver is a Brazilian design studio and manufacturer founded by Jefferson Aver, specializing in collectible furniture, lighting, and bespoke metalwork. Rooted in a deep understanding of materials and fabrication, the studio combines technical expertise with a strong commitment to craftsmanship, creating works distinguished by refined construction, material richness, and a contemporary architectural language. Each piece reflects a careful balance between precision, durability, and sculptural expression. Working primarily with metal while incorporating wood, stone, glass, and other complementary materials, Aver develops collections that unite industrial manufacturing with artisanal techniques. Guided by a pursuit of timeless design and lasting quality, the studio creates functional objects with a strong sculptural presence, celebrating material honesty, innovation, and the enduring value of handcrafted production. Through this approach, Aver continues to explore the dialogue between craftsmanship, technology, and contemporary living.
