DESIGNER

A. Jacob Marks

A. Jacob Marks is an American designer based in North Carolina and the founder of SKRAM, established in 2001. His practice is grounded in a commitment to enduring design, exploring the balance between beauty, utility, and longevity. Working primarily with natural materials—including hardwood, leather, metal, and stone—his pieces are defined by a restrained formal language and a precise sensitivity to proportion and materiality. Bringing together traditional craftsmanship and advanced fabrication, Marks creates furniture that reflects both technical rigor and the presence of the maker's hand. His work is guided by a broader understanding of sustainability, emphasizing durability, responsibility, and the lasting value of well-made objects.
