Bureau of Entropy

Bureau of Entropy is a Germany-based design collective founded by Marvin Julian Freund and Matthias Figurowicz. Their practice operates at the intersection of collectible design and functional art, exploring material, form, and structure through a process-driven approach. Working with a restrained yet expressive language, the studio develops pieces that embrace contrast and transformation, where raw materiality meets refined composition. Their work reflects an ongoing investigation into entropy as both a conceptual framework and a generative force, shaping objects that balance control with unpredictability.
