DESIGNER

Angel Mombiedro

Ángel Mombiedro is a Spanish designer and architect based in New York and the founder of Armombiedro Studio. His practice explores the intersection of architecture, engineering, and collectible design, creating furniture, lighting, and objects distinguished by their playful character, geometric clarity, and sculptural presence. Drawing from classical proportions while embracing experimentation, Mombiedro develops works that balance functionality, craftsmanship, and visual storytelling. Working across disciplines, he collaborates with artisans and small workshops to produce pieces that celebrate materiality, thoughtful construction, and human connection. His work has been exhibited internationally and featured in leading design publications, earning recognition for its contemporary approach to form, sustainability, and cultural dialogue.
