DESIGNER

Ivan Colominas

Milan-based Ivan Colominas is a multidisciplinary designer whose work channels the timeless elegance of stone into contemporary contexts. Educated in industrial and transportation design at UCH-CEU in Valencia, he has since developed a body of marble-centric work—tables, vessels, centerpieces—that foregrounds material refinement and structural poise. His collections, like Tivoli, Altana, and Nissa, are a testament to his fascination with Italian quarry heritage and sculptural potential. His designs are known for their analogue warmth and tectonic readability, bridging the digital heritage of modern design with the ancient gravitas of metamorphic stone. His pieces, frequently exhibited internationally and acknowledged with multiple Red Dot Awards, reveal an aesthetic of material poetry—a modern sensibility born from dense, stratified marble and distilled through rigorous craftsmanship.
