OWL is a Barcelona-based design studio led by Alfredo Lopez, devoted to creating furniture and objects that unite functionality with a refined, enduring aesthetic. Working primarily in wood, the studio conceives its collections as evolving systems—adaptable frameworks that respond intuitively to different spaces, contexts, and users. From Formica and Capsules to La Pepino and Alabaster, each series reflects a quiet dialogue between material, form, and everyday life. Craftsmanship and material integrity are central to OWL's practice. Every piece is meticulously handmade in the studio's workshop using locally sourced, high-quality materials selected for their durability, sustainability, and distinctive character. Custom commissions further extend this approach, translating the studio's sensibility into bespoke interiors and furniture for private and commercial settings. Through collaborations such as Frames, presented during Milan Design Week 2024, OWL embraces a spirit of experimentation while remaining grounded in craft. Its work bridges tradition and contemporary expression, resulting in objects that are precise, personal, and quietly poetic.
