DESIGNER

Marc Dibeh

Marc Dibeh is a Beirut based designer whose practice explores the relationship between place, culture, imagination, and contemporary design. Since establishing his studio in 2009, he has developed a distinctive language across interiors and collectible objects, guided by storytelling and a desire to distil spaces and forms to their most essential and enduring expressions. His work combines sharp conceptual thinking with understated wit, creating an evocative dialogue between the tangible and the imaginative. Dibeh’s practice has been presented internationally through leading galleries and recognised by major design platforms. His accolades include the Generation Orient Prize in 2016 and the Rising Talents Award from Maison&Objet Paris in 2018, followed by AD Middle East Interior Design of the Year in 2021. In 2022, he was named among AD Middle East’s 50 Best Designers and the ID50 Top Designers. His work continues to occupy a distinctive position within the contemporary design landscape, where conceptual clarity, cultural identity, and poetic restraint converge.
