Marmi Serafini

Marmi Serafini is an Italian marble design company rooted in two complementary locations: Milan, where its gallery serves as a meeting point for clients, designers, and architects, and Vicenza, where its factory transforms raw stone into enduring works of design. Over time, Serafini has established itself as one of the most innovative names in marble, recognized for its ability to realize complex three-dimensional forms that redefine the expressive potential of the material. Each Serafini creation begins with a block of marble and is shaped through a meticulous process that combines advanced technologies with the irreplaceable touch of skilled machine can replicate. This balance between heritage and innovation is sustained by a young, dynamic team and a deep respect for Italian craftsmanship. Craft, precision, and attention to detail remain central to Serafini's philosophy, from the texture of the stone to the emotional resonance of the finished piece. Rejecting standardized mass production, the company focuses on bespoke, client-centered design, actively involving customers throughout the creative and production process. Through collaborations with international designers, Serafini creates timeless marble pieces for bathrooms and living spaces, exporting its vision of "Made in Italy" to galleries,
