Atra Design

ATRA is a design and architecture atelier whose work feels deliberately excessive in the best possible sense: monumental seating, sculptural millwork, and immersive interiors that negotiate Scandinavian clarity and Mexican artisanal ingenuity. Founded by Alexander Diaz Andersson, the studio's practice spans bespoke furniture collections and large-scale commissions, each object conceived as an act of world-building. Materials and scale are ATRA's currencies: soft, rounded volumes and engineered upholstery meet robust, craft-driven construction—furniture that performs like inhabited sculpture. The studio's projects often read as modern myths, their silhouettes both theatrical and use-bound. With a growing roster of international clients and a presence in contemporary design press, ATRA maps contemporary patronage onto a practice that prizes narrative, comfort, and material invention in equal measure.
