Canoa Lab

Canoa Lab is a contemporary craft studio founded by Raquel Vidal and Pedro Paz in Valencia, Spain. Emerging from backgrounds in fine arts, photography, and visual experimentation, the duo established the studio as a space for research, making, and dialogue, where ceramics and metal become vehicles for exploring history, material culture, and human connection. Working with clay, metal, custom glazes, and traditional techniques, Canoa Lab creates vessels and objects that draw inspiration from the ancient cultures of the Mediterranean. Their practice combines craftsmanship, material experimentation, and archaeological curiosity, resulting in pieces that feel both timeless and contemporary. Through a slow, process-driven approach, Vidal and Paz investigate the relationship between memory, place, and material, creating works distinguished by their textured surfaces, sculptural forms, and deep connection to the past.
