Gisbert Pöppler

Gisbert Pöppler is a German architect and designer based in Berlin whose practice explores the relationship between architecture, interiors, and collectible furniture. Since founding his studio in 2004, he has developed a distinctive design language that balances historical references with contemporary sensibilities, creating refined spaces and bespoke furnishings distinguished by elegant proportions, rich materiality, and a sophisticated use of colour and light.

Guided by a holistic approach to design, Pöppler creates furniture and interiors that celebrate craftsmanship, atmosphere, and meticulous attention to detail. Through bespoke commissions and collectible pieces, he develops timeless works that unite architectural clarity with expressive materiality, embodying the enduring dialogue between tradition, contemporary living, and artisanal excellence.
