DESIGNER

Julie Nelson

Julie Nelson is a British ceramicist whose work explores the natural world through the language of clay. Working from her studio in London, she hand-builds vessels and sculptural forms that draw on botanical, biological, and landscape references, reflecting the visual rhythms and patterns found in nature. Often created as part of series, her pieces are designed to contrast and converse with one another, balancing individuality with interconnectedness. Through refined forms, subtle textures, and a quiet palette, Nelson's ceramics capture both the fragility and resilience of the natural world, inviting reflection on our deep connection to it.
