Rosanna Ceravolo

Studio Ceravolo is a multidisciplinary design practice operating at the intersection of architecture, interior design, and product design, with a shared commitment to elevating the human experience through thoughtful, enduring outcomes. Founded and led by architect Rosanna Ceravolo, the studio is distinguished by a collaborative and contextually responsive approach, in which each project is shaped by careful observation, dialogue, and restraint. The practice is unified by an unwavering attention to detail, evident across scales—from architectural environments to finely crafted furniture and objects. Rosanna Ceravolo's design philosophy centers on how spaces are inhabited of comfort, clarity, and enjoyment. This sensitivity naturally informs the studio's refined interior focus, where atmospheres are composed with precision and care. Fluid transitions between architecture, interiors, and products underscore the belief that no element is too small to be considered. Studio Ceravolo's furniture and product designs emerge as a natural extension of its architectural thinking, translating spatial concepts into tactile forms. Each piece is handmade to order by trusted local fabricators, with collaboration forming an essential and integral part of the studio's design process.
