Patricia Bustos Studio was founded with a singular vision: to create unique, unrepeatable universes where beauty reaches its fullest expression through creativity and meticulous design. Rejecting conventional approaches, the studio forges its own language, developing perspectives that traverse the boundaries of imagination. PBS interiors exist at the intersection of the physical and the digital, between reality and utopia. This delicate balance allows each project to transport us to extraordinary worlds, where spatial narrative and sensory experience converge. A sophisticated interplay of color, organic and geometric forms, and contrasts between reflective or translucent continuous experimentation, seeking disruptive solutions that challenge norms and inspire wonder. Its projects are experimental, dreamlike, sensual, and innovative—blending traditional and avant-garde styles with unusual and extreme forms to reveal striking perspectives of the world. An interdisciplinary team shapes “sensitive architecture” attuned to context and environment, attending to every detail in the creation of homes, hotels, restaurants, and boutiques. Each space is imbued with soul, where sublime beauty harmoniously merges with functionality, technology, and poetic resonance, offering immersive experiences that linger long after
