ETAMORPH is a New York City-based design boutique studio renowned for its creation of contemporary objects, custom furniture, and distinctive finishes for luxury interiors. Founded and led by Design Director Enrico Tognoni, the studio operates at the intersection of cutting-edge technology and master craftsmanship, delivering timeless pieces that unite innovation with artisanal tradition. Born and raised in Tuscany, Tognoni's formative years were steeped in the region's rich artistic and craft heritage. This cultural foundation, coupled with his passion for science, led him to earn joint

Master's degrees in Architecture and Engineering—a dual discipline that continues to inform his practice. Guided by a belief in the synergy of art and engineering, ETAMORPH's work is defined by meticulous attention to detail, material exploration, and an unwavering respect for the craft. Each project reflects a harmonious dialogue between modern design principles and time-honored techniques, resulting in pieces that are as intellectually rigorous as they are visually striking.
