Stem Design

Stem is a design studio that reinterprets Indian traditions through contemporary craftsmanship, creating objects that elevate everyday living with a quiet sense of warmth and connection. Founded by Aman Bhayana and Sugandhi Mehrotra, Stem embraces the innocence of joy found in simple moments, translating this philosophy into a meditative design process. Each creation emerges as a handcrafted sculpture—an intimate celebration of human spirit and connection. Every piece is defined by subtle imperfections that carry a sense of familiarity, embodying Stem's vision of luxury as sincerity—rooted in natural materials, artisanal dedication, and thoughtful restraint. By collaborating closely with Indian craftspeople, the studio preserves heritage techniques while fostering innovation, resulting in works that bridge cultural legacy with contemporary awareness. Stem's commitment to locally sourced and recycled materials reflects its conscious ethos, encouraging mindful consumption and a deeper reverence for the world around us. This approach creates objects that transcend trends, offering a timeless global narrative of craftsmanship, connection, and meaningful living.
