DESIGNER

Louise Roe

Louise Roe Andersen is a Copenhagen-based designer whose practice translates the shapes, textures, and atmospheres of her surroundings into elegant objects for contemporary living. Since founding her eponymous studio in 2010, she has developed a body of work that spans vessels, lamps, ceramics, glassware, mirrors, and furniture—each piece defined by a refined balance of simplicity, detail, and sculptural presence. Trained in fashion and concept development, Roe brings an acute sensitivity to materials and process. Her collections are crafted exclusively in Europe by skilled artisans, where traditional savoir-faire meets her distinctly modern vision. Honest materials such as glass, stone, oak, and ceramics form the foundation of her practice, each transformed into timeless objects that embody both function and poetry. Her design language resonates between early Art Deco elegance, Brutalist geometry, and Bauhaus minimalism, guided always by a focus on proportion, light, and shadow. At once minimal and expressive, her work captures a quiet sophistication—objects conceived not only as functional design but as sculptural statements within space.
