Studio Gaia Paris

Studio Gaia is a French design atelier specializing in exceptional stone furniture and decorative objects crafted from marble, onyx, and travertine. Designed in Paris by its two founders and handmade by highly skilled artisans, each piece reflects a commitment to material excellence and refined craftsmanship. Rooted in a dialogue between Parisian elegance and understated modernity, Studio Gaia's creations are distinguished by their sculptural presence and timeless appeal. Natural materials lie at the heart of the studio's identity, celebrated for their inherent richness, depth, and individuality. Through careful composition and proportion, each object is conceived to harmonize seamlessly with both contemporary and classic interiors. The studio operates primarily through bespoke commissions, fostering a close and thoughtful exchange between client and designer. This personalized approach allows each piece to be tailored to its context while maintaining the atelier's distinct design language. Defined by meticulous attention to detail and a respect for artisanal know-how, Studio Gaia has established itself as a sought-after name within the world of high-end interior design and collectible furniture.
