SNICKERIET

SNICKERIET is a Swedish furniture studio founded in 2011, with a presence in Stockholm and Gothenburg. Working at the intersection of traditional cabinetmaking and contemporary collectible design, the studio explores materiality, construction, and sculptural form through an experimental yet refined approach. Its practice is rooted in a deep respect for craftsmanship while continually seeking new possibilities within woodworking. Led by Karl-Johan Hjerling, SNICKERIET creates furniture that balances meticulous making with architectural expression. Through innovative structures, tactile surfaces, and considered proportions, the studio challenges conventional perceptions of wood and its possibilities. Each piece reflects a distinctly Scandinavian sensibility while embracing a more experimental language, where function and sculpture coexist. The result is a body of work defined by material intelligence, technical precision, and a quiet yet distinctive presence within contemporary collectible design.
