Atelier Thomas Formont

Thomas Formont is a French artist, designer, and master metalworker whose practice explores the expressive potential of brass, copper, and forged metal. Drawing on over fifteen years of expertise in fine metalcraft, he creates sculptural furniture, collectible objects, and artworks that merge traditional craftsmanship with contemporary design. Through a meticulous handcrafting process, Formont transforms raw materials into pieces distinguished by their tactile richness, refined detailing, and enduring presence. Rooted in a deep appreciation for heritage, architecture, and materiality, his work reflects an ongoing dialogue between artisanal savoir-faire and modern expression. Working at the intersection of art, craft, and design, he continues to push the possibilities of metal through both functional and sculptural forms.
