Senimo is a contemporary design studio creating sculptural furniture where craftsmanship, material integrity, and poetic expression converge. Guided by restraint and timelessness, the studio explores the quiet beauty of natural materials, particularly sustainably sourced wood. Its warmth, grain, and organic irregularities become essential elements of each design, preserving a tactile connection to nature. Each piece balances fluid, hand-shaped forms with precise joinery, drawing on traditional woodworking techniques while reinterpreting them through a contemporary sensibility. Clarity, balance, and material presence guide the process, allowing form and structure to coexist harmoniously. Designed to endure both physically and emotionally, Senimo’s furniture is made to age gracefully, developing a unique patina through time, use, and human connection. Each object moves beyond function to become a lasting presence within contemporary spaces, celebrating the enduring dialogue between nature, craftsmanship, and form.
