DESIGNER

Mathieu Girard & Gauthier Pouillart

Mathieu Girard and Gauthier Pouillart are French designers whose practice unites technical experimentation with poetic form. Working across furniture, lighting, and installation, the duo explores material, structure, and craftsmanship to challenge conventional applications and reveal new possibilities within contemporary design. Metal, resin, and composite materials are central to their practice, carefully composed to create a dialogue between strength and delicacy.

Through precise engineering and a refined sensitivity to proportion, their limited-edition works explore the tension between solidity and lightness, while texture and tactility invite a deeper physical engagement. Existing between functional object and sculpture, their designs transform rigorous material research into works of quiet intensity—sophisticated, tactile, and enduring.
