Mohebban

Mohebban presents the carpet as more than a decorative object: a cultural expression that defines both physical and spiritual space. Rooted in a millennia-old tradition, the family has created exceptional carpets since the early 1970s, carrying generations of knowledge from Iran to Milan, where the company has been based for over fifty years, and across Turkey, India, and Pakistan, where production takes place today. Over three generations, Mohebban has developed an international vision that brings ancestral craftsmanship into dialogue with contemporary design. Each carpet emerges from an entirely handcrafted process, combining traditional techniques with refined modern patterns. Master artisans work with carefully selected materials, including wool, silk, and vegetal fibers, through every stage of spinning, dyeing, knotting, cutting, washing, and drying. With some pieces exceeding 200,000 knots per square meter, every creation embodies remarkable precision and patience. The result is a singular work where heritage, artistry, and contemporary sensibility converge, preserving cultural memory while giving it renewed relevance for modern interiors.
