Estudio Prosa

Estúdio Prosa is a Brazilian design studio founded by Júlia Rovigo and Rodrigo Pesca, whose practice explores the relationship between traditional craftsmanship, contemporary design, and material innovation. Working primarily with wood, the studio creates collectible furniture distinguished by sculptural forms, refined joinery, and an expressive yet understated design language. Rooted in Brazil’s rich woodworking heritage, Estúdio Prosa reinterprets traditional naval carpentry techniques through a contemporary lens, creating pieces that balance technical precision with organic elegance. Guided by a spirit of experimentation and creative freedom, Estúdio Prosa collaborates with skilled artisans to develop furniture that celebrates the natural beauty and durability of wood. Through meticulous craftsmanship, innovative construction, and timeless design, the studio creates enduring works that embody material honesty, artisanal excellence, and the evolving dialogue between Brazilian craftsmanship and contemporary collectible design.
