Vogel Studio

Vogel Studio is a design practice founded by German designer Fabio Vogel, working at the intersection of collectible design, furniture, and interiors. Based in Germany, the studio develops a diverse body of work ranging from sculptural objects to bespoke spatial projects. Rooted in a process of experimentation, Vogel Studio explores unconventional materials, textures, and forms to create pieces that are both functional and expressive. Each project is approached as an open-ended investigation, where making, collaboration, and material research play a central role. Blurring the boundary between art and design, the studio's work is defined by a tactile sensibility and a focus on how objects interact with people—resulting in distinctive pieces that balance aesthetic presence with everyday use.
