DESIGNER

Félix Millory

Félix Millory is a French architect and designer based in Paris, working across architecture, interiors, and collectible design. Trained as an architect, he founded his studio in 2012 and has since developed a distinctive practice spanning high-end residential projects and bespoke objects. His work is defined by a pursuit of simplicity and a strong sensitivity to material. Drawing on elements such as bronze, alabaster, marble, and wood, Millory creates pieces that reveal the inherent character of each material, often referencing a quiet, almost timeless architectural language. From lighting to furniture, his designs are conceived as extensions of space—where proportion, detail, and atmosphere are carefully composed into a cohesive whole.
