THE PROJECT / 'MONTESINO', DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

Southern exposure

Latin American design has long been overshadowed by the work of European and North American makers. If global design fairs are any indication, however, the tide could be turning. Those who want to keep their finger on the pulse should check out Montesino, Paris-based Galerie Philia's new pop-up exhibition at Design Week República Dominicana in Santo Domingo. The show presents furniture, lighting, textiles and objets d'art created by contemporary Mexican, Dominican, Argentinian, Peruvian and Venezuelan designers.
