Opposites attract at Philia

Forming part of Polanco's gallery hop, Philia is a wonderfully contemporary and well-curated space of Latin American and international art. Art Week inaugurates its "Antipodes" exhibition featuring sculpture and furniture design by Argentine artist Pilar Zeta. The second portion of the exhibition is by Andrés Monnier, featuring dark stone chandeliers and sconces. The evident juxtaposition of color thus creates a fierce, coexisting opposition and invites the theme of opposites into play. "It alludes to how we live on the same planet and can be polar opposites. But at the end of the day, we can share the same space and planet we call Earth," F. Santiago Ortiz Monasterio Borbolla, director at Philia x HOK, says.
