The HYPEBEAST Guide to Milan Design Week 2022

As the world's biggest design festival returns, we select the must-see installations and exhibitions taking place.

This year, Milan Design Week is returning to full throttle. From June 6 to 12, the city will become a hotbed for experimentation and collaboration, while also providing a stage for the launch of new collections from the biggest brands in the design world. With hundreds of events taking place, it's impossible to see everything, but we've picked the ones you can't miss to make it easier.

Studiopepe

Flavio Pescatori

Studiopepe will launch its first collectable design pieces at the city's Baranzate Ateliers – a 1950s derelict factory. Created in collaboration with Galerie Philia, the pieces are a continuation of the studio's ongoing anthropologic research and are inspired by the artefacts housed by the Luigi Pigorini National Museum of Prehistory and Ethnography in Rome.
